A recent report of the F. S. Comnession on Immigration shows some interesting tendencies during the 1 and 3 between July, 1921, and Fehruary, 1922 The emigration from the M. S. back to the countries of Europe has been nearly equal to the immigration from Europe to the U. S. For some nationalities the return has been greater than the migration. This is true of the Italians, Poles, Hohemians, Greeks, Hulgarians and Spaniards. The nationalites which have come in larger numbers than they have gone are the English, the Germans, the Scandinnvians and the Scutch. The commission attributes this tendency in migration to two causes-first, the conditions in the European countries and, second, the immigration legislation. It is probnble that lnbor conditions in the Unlted States have also had a great influence in determining the result, as SHELBYVILLE there has not been employment for much perturbed comrade, beliawing. Ramsey bore with him for a moment, then spring upon him; they wrestled vigorously, broke a chair and went to the floor with a crush that gave the chandeller in Mrs. Metgs' parlor, below, an attack of jingles.

"You let me up!" Fred gasped. "You take your solemn outli to abut ne? You goin' to swear it?"

"All right. I give my solemn oath," said Fred; and they rose, arranging their tousted attire.

"Well," said Fred, "when you goin' to call on her?"

"I beg!" Fred cried, retreating. "I mean, aside from nil that, why, I just thought maybe after such an evening you'd feel as a gentleman you ought to go and ask after her health." "Now, see here-

"No, I mean tt; you ought to," Fred insisted, carnestly, and as his roommate glaced at him with complete sug-

he taught Fred Mitchell to he cauthous. The chaffer tearned that his own sgilly could not save him from itamsey, and so found it wiser to contain an effervescence which sometimes threatened to hurst him. Itsmsey as & victim was a continuous temptation, he was so good natured and yet so furious.

After Commencement, when the commates had gone home, Mr. Mitchell's caution extended over the long sunshiny months of summer vacation; he broke it but once and then in welladvised safety, for the occasion was semi-public. The two were out for a stroll on a July Sunday afternoon; and up and down the street young couples tolted along, young families and baby carriages straggled to and from the houses of older relatives, and the rest of the world of that growing city was rocking and faming itself on its front vernmia.

"Here's a right pretty place, isn't it, Ramsey, don't you think?" Fred remarked innocently, as they were passing a lawn of short-clipped, bright green grass before a genial-looking house, fresh in white justnt and cool in green and white awnings. A broad veranda, well populated just now, crossed the front of the house; fine trees helped the awnings to give comfort against the sun; and Fred's re-mark was warranted. Nevertheless, he fell under the suspicion of his companion, who had begun to evince some pervousness before Fred spoke.

"What place you mean?" "The Yocum place," said Mr. Mitcheit. "I hear the old gentleman's mighty prosperous these days. They keep things up to the mark, don't they, Itamsey?" "I don't know whether they do or whether they don't," Itamsey returned shortly.

Fred appeared to muse regretfully. "It looks kind of empty now, though," he said, "with only Mr. and Mrs. Yocum and their married daughters, and eight or nine children on the front porch!"

"You wait till I get you where they can't see us!" Hamsey warned him fiercely.

"You can't do it!" said Fred, manifesting triumph. "We'll both stop right here in plain sight of the whole Yocum family connection this you promise not to touch me."

And he halted, leaning back implacably against the Youtm's from fence. Ramsey was acaudalized. "Come out" he said hoarsely, "Don't stop here!" "I will, and if you go on atone I'll yell at you. You got to stand right here with all of 'em lookin' at you until-"

"I promise! My heavens, come on!" Fred consented to end the moment of agony; and for the rest of the summer found it impossible to persuade itamsey to pass that house in his com-"I won't do it!" Itamsey told mny. him. "Your word of honor means nothin' to me; you're liable to do anything that comes into your head, and I'm gettin' old enough to not get a reputation for bein' seen with people that act the idiot on the public streets No. sir; we'll walk around the block-ut ieast, we will if you're goin' with me!"

And to Fred's delight, though he concenled it, they would make this de-

The evening after their return to the university both were busy with their trunks and various orderings and disorderings of their apartment, but Fred several times expressed surprise that his roommute should be content to remain at home; and finally ltamsey comprehended these implications. Mrs. Meigs' chandeller immediately fingled with the shock of unother crash npon the floor above.

"You let me up!" Fred commanded thickly, his voice muffled by the pile of flannels, sweaters, underwear and raincoats, wherein his head was being forced to burrow, "You let me up, darn your 1 didn't say mything " And upon his release he complained that the attack was unprovoked. didn't say mything on earth to even filnt you might want to go out and see if anybody in particular had got back to college yet. I didn't even mention the name of Dora Yo- Keep off a' me! My goodness, but you are sensitive!" As a matter of fact, neither of them saw Pora until the first meeting of the Lumen, whither they went as sophomores to take their pleasure in the agony of freshmen debaters. Itamsev was now able to attend the Lumen, not with compineence but at least without shinddering over the recollection of his own spectacular first appearance there. He had made subsequent appearances, far from brilliant, yet not disgraceful, and as a speciator, at least, he usually felt rather at his case in the place. It cannot be asserted, however, that he appeared entirely at his case this evening after he had read the "Programme" clutked upon the large casel blackbourd beside the chairman's desk. Three "Freshman Debstes" were announced and a "Sophomore Oration," thta last being followed by the name, D. Yocum, '18." Ramsey made lumediate and conspicuous efforts to avoid sitting next to his roommate, but was not so adroit as to he succeasful. However, Fred was merciful; the fluctuations of his friend's com- he wanted to, and I dared him to say plexion were an inspiration more to pity thun to hadinage. The three debates all concerned the 'Causes of the War in Europe," and honors appeared to rest with a small and atout, stolidly "pro-German" girl dehater, who had brought with her and translated at sight shea-loot proofs (so she called them), printed in German, that thermany had been attacked by Belgium at the low instigntion of the envious English. Everyhody knew it waan't true; but she made an impression and established herself as a debater, especially as her opponent was quite confounded by her introduction of printed matter.

When the dehates and the verdicts were concluded, the orator appeared and Fred's compassion extended itself so far that he even refrained from looking inquisitively at the hoy in the seat next to his; but he made one aide of a wager, mentally-that if Itamsey had consented to be thoroughly confidential just then, he would have 'con fessed to feeling kind o' funny.

Dora was charmingly dressed, and she was pale; but those notable eyelashes of hers were all the more notable against her pailer. And as she spoke with fire, it was natural that her color should come back quite flamingly and that her eyes should fisab in shelter of the lashes. "The Christian Spirit and Internationalism" was her subject, yet she showed no meek sample of a Christian Spirit herself when she came to attacking war-ninkers generally, as well as all those "halfdeveloped tribesmen" and "victims of herd instinct" who believed that war might ever be justified under any circumstances of atrocity. She was eloquent truly, and a picture of grace and girlish dignity, even when she was most vigorous. Nothing could have been more militant than her denunciation of militancy.

"She's an actual wonder," Fred said, when the two had got back to Mrs. Meigs' afterward. "Don't you took at me like that; I'm talkin' about her as a public character, and there's nothin' personsi about it. You let me alone."

Itamsey was not clear as to his duty. "Well-"

"If any person makes a public speech," Fred protested, "I got a perfect right to discuss 'em, no matter what you think of 'em"-and he added hastily-"or don't think of 'em!" "Look here-"

"Good heavenn!" Fred excialmed. 'You aren't expecting to interfere with me if I say anything about that little fat Werder girl that argued for Germany, are you? Or any of the other speakers? I got a right to talk 'em just as public apeakers, haven't 1? Well, what I say in: Dora

"Well, What I Say ts: Dora Yocum, as an Orator, is Just an Actual Perfect Wonder. Got Any Objections?"

Yocum as an orator la just an actual perfect wonder, that any objections?" "N-no."

"All right then." Fred settled himself upon the window seut with a pipe, and proceeded, "There's something about her, when she stands there, she stands so straight and knows just what she's up to, and everything, why, there's something about her makes the cold chills go down your spine-1 mean my spine, not yours particularly! You sit down-I mean anybody's spine, doggone it!" And as itamsey increased the manifestations of his suspicions, lifting a teunis racket over the prostrate tigure, "Ch, murder," Fred said, resignedly. "All right, we'll change the subject. That fat little Werder cutle made out a pretty good case for Germany, didn't she?" itanisey disposed himself in un easy chair with his feet upon the table, and presently chuckled. "You remember the time I had the fuss with Wesley Render, back in the ole school days?"

"Yep." "All the tlubdub this Werder girl got off tonight puts me in ruind of the way I talked that day. I can remember it as well as anything! Wesley kept yeight' that whoever mentioned n lady's name in a public place was a pup, and of course I didn't want to bit him for that; a boy's got a reg'lar instinct for tryin' to make out he's on the right side in a scrap, and he'll always try to do something, or say something, or he'll get the other boy to any aomething, to make it look as If the other boy was in the wrong and began the trouble. So I told poor ole Wes that my father spoke my mother's name in a public place whenever my father was a pup. And all so on. A hoy atartin' up a scrnp, why, half the time he'ti drag in his father and mother if there's any chance to do it, He'll fix up some way so he can aay, Well, that's just the same as if you called my father and mother a fool, or something like that. Then, afterward, he can claim he was acrappin' because he had to defend his father and mother, and of course he'll more than haif believe it himself. "Well, you take a government-It's only, just some men., the way I see, it, and if they're goin' to start some hig trouble like this war, why, of course they'll play just shout that same old boy trick, because it's instinct to do it. just the same for a men as it is for a boy-or else the principle's just the same, or something. Well, anyhow, If you want to know who started a scrap and worked it up, you got to forget all the talk there is about it, and all what each side says, and just look at two things: Who was fixed for it first, or thought they were, and who hit first? When you get the answer to those two quentions everything's settled shout this being 'attacked' business. As near as I can make out, this war hegan with Germany and Austria's stortin' to wipe out two little countries; Austria hegan shootin' up Serbis, and Germany began shootin' up Beigium. I don't need to notice any more than that, myself-all the girls in the country can dehate their heads off, they can't change what happened and they can't excuse it, either."

He was stient, appearing to feel that he had concluded conclusively, and the young gentleman on the window seat, after staring at him for several moments of genuine thoughtfuiness, was gracious enough to observe, "Weil, old Ram, you may be a little slow in class. but when you think things out with yourself you do show signs of something pretty near like real horse-sence sometimes. Why don't you ever say anything like that to-to some of your pacifist friends?"

"What do you mean? Who you taikin' sbout? Whose 'pacifist friends'?"

"See, here!" Fred exclaimed, as Ramsey seemed about to rise. "You keen sitting just where you are, and don't look at me out of the aide of your eye like that-pretendin' you're a had horse. I'm really serious now, and you listen to me. I don't think argufying and deliating like that little Frauiein Werder's does much harm. She'a a right nifty young rolypoly, hy the way, though you didn't notice, of course.

"Why didn't 1?" Ramsey demanded, sharply. "Why didn't I notice?"

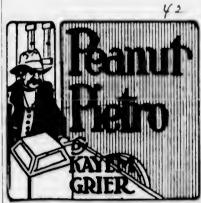

"Oh, nothing. Hut, as I was saying, I don't think that nort of talk does much harm: everyhody knows it goen on among the pro-Germans, and it's all hot air, anyhow. But I think Linskl's sort of talk does do harm, prob'ty among people that don't know much; and, what's more, I think Dora Yocum's does some, too. Well, you hit Linski in the anoot, so what are you-Sit still! My ford! You don't think I'm askin' you to go and hit Dora, do you? I mean: Aren't you ever goin' to talk to her about it and tell her what's what?"

"Oh, you go to bed!" "No. I'm in earnest," Fred urged.

'Honestly, aren't you ever goln' to?" "itow could i do anything like that?" Itanisey demanded explosively. never see her-to speak to, that is. prob'ty won't happen to have another talk with her, or anything, nil the time we're in coffege,"

"No," Fred admitted, "I suppose not. Of course, if you did, then you would give her quite a taiking to, just the way you did the other time, wouldn't But upon that, another resumption of physical violence put an end to the conversation,

JUNIOR TOPIC.-A Man Who Forget

INTEHMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—"Pride Goeth Before Destruc-YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.

The Perils of Prospertly.

1. Uzziah Made King (vv. 1-5). I. His Age (v. I). He became king

at the uge of sixteen.

2. Length of His Itelgn (v. 3). He reigned fifty-two years. His mother's name was Jecollati, which means "Jehovah is able," or "Made strong of Jehovah."

3. His Character (v. 4). He did that which was right in the sight of the Lord.

4. His Prosperity (v. 5). He definitely sought God while Zecharlah fived, and because he sought him God made him to prosper as long as he continued to seek him. He, like Joach before him, turned aside when the influence of the man of God was removed.

II. Uzziah's Achievement (vv. 6-15). 1. tie Bulit Eloth (v. 2). This was a port on the ited sea which had been jost to Judah. No doubt it was the aim of the father to get possession of this port, so the son makes its restorstion his first fluty. It was an important trading point and the commercial interests of the nation would be greatly increased by its possession.

2. He Had Military Success (vv. 6-8). (I) He conquered the Philistines (v. 6). After aubduing them be dismantled their fortified cities and built new citles in their stead. (2) He defeated the Arsbians (v. 7). (3) He made the Ammonites across the Jordan pay tribute (v. 8).

3. He Fortified Jerusalem (vv. 9-150. He took advantage of the peace which was now enjoyed because of the subjugation of his enemies to fortify Jerusalem. He placed lu the towers great engines of war for hurting stones.

4. His Civic Improvements (v. 10). In the regions south and west of Jerusaiem he built towers which served a threefold purpose, namely: observation, defense and shelter for his cattle. This enulfed him to carry on his atock-raising enterprises.

5. iiia Army (vv. 11-15), it numbered 307,500, it was thoroughly equipped and dritted. God was with him, and his fame spremt far and wide. The source of his strength was God. III. Uzziah's Transgression (vv. 16-

The prosperity beatowed upon him by the Lord was too much for himhis heart was lifted up with pride. This is always so unless counteracted by divine grace. In his pride he preaumptuously intruded into the priest's office. This act was not because of forgetfulness, but of deliberate purpose. Azariah and eighty other priests remonstrated with him, but this only made blor angry. This act was a trespuss against God.

IV. Uzziah's Punishment (vv. 19-21).

While raging in his wrath and shout to burn incense he was amitten with leprosy, a dreadful, lucurable and unclean disease. This judgment came upon him as a consequence of his overweening pride and vanity. He was thrust out of the sanctuary-excluded from God's house. Indeed, his own conscience smote him, and he hurriedly went out because he knew that the Lord had smitten him. He not only was excluded from the place of worship, but was dethroned. His son Jotham was made regent. His judgment was: 1. Sudden, The Lord smote him while attired us priest, with censer in hand. Frequently God's judgments are speedy. 2. Severe. The leprosy broke forth upon his forehead. The same judgment befelt Mirlam for speaking against Moses (Num. 12:10), and Genazi for lying to Elisha (H Kings 5:27). Great sins demand aevere punishment. 3. Conspicuous. Azariah and all the priests looked up and beheld the lep tosy (v. 20). The spot on f'zziah's forchead procluimed him as the oldect of tlod's wrath. How many today are hearing uhout the marks of sin-God's judgment ! 4. Humifinting. He was henceforth nnclean-ent off from the congregation. This is what sin always does, 5. Fatni. The Genoa Conference

The disposition for International Conferences appears to be pretty well established. The Washington Conference contributed largely to the idea. Then came the meeting of the Supreme Council at Canzes, which gave "Corporal" Harvey a chance to do a little observation work while the European delegates drew up the agenda for the conference now sitting at Genoa, with Ambassador Child assigned to the observation post,

The chief purpose of the meeting at Genoa is the reorganization of business and currency in Europe. The discussions will settle largely about Means and Measures for putting money and trade upon a wurking basis. The task is an unpleasant and complicated one. Europe is ln a bad way and no one doubts her need

In spite of the fact that Russia is whinling about the occupation of some of her territory by Japan and Rumania, and France squalls like a spanked buby every time Germany and Russia are shown the slightest consideration, there is good reason for believmy that the Genon Conference will not result in failure. If it does, it will not be because of apprehension of tackling a hard Lloyd George is on the scene and has voiced his intention to stay there until something is done. That, in itself, has stimulated a great deal of confidence. Lloyd George usually does a thing when he puts his hand to it. Old age does not seem to wither him, and the growling of political dogs affrights him not.

Go to it, Welshman, and if there are any bil lands to be divided up, kindly notify our Ambassador, Mr. Child. If he is not attending a dinner somewhere, you will likely find him behind the press gullery among the distinguished visitors,

Why His Saving Prospers

"I call this my 'Insurance Fund' for my two children," said a man who deposited two one-dollar bills Saturday morning.

"Good," said the teller, entering a deposit in each of the two pass-books. "You've been doing this regularly for a long time, haven't you?"

"Once a week for twelve years."

Just think of that-twelve years of persistent and systematic saving! And there is every reason to believe he will keep it upfor it's a habit now.

Notice that this man saves with a purpose; and he has a system; and that he has the saving habit. That's a combination you could hardly improve upon-and it's one you can have if you will Open a Savings Acrount in Berea Bank & Trust Co., Berea, Ky., and keep it growing.

Good Transportation Facilities a Great Source of National Wealth

By COL. H. L. BOWLBY, Pree't Am. Road Builders' Asa'n.

Good transportation facilities constitute one of the greatest of the sources of national wealth. We really do not need to search the pages of history to realize the vital part that highways have played in world devel-

In our day, I believe, the highway will become the great rival of the railroad. The passenger automobile and motor truck industries, two of food during the winter, there is no the greatest in point of capital invested and output, are absolutely dependent for their stability and growth upon good roads. In establishing our highway systems and in building our roads the motor traffic of the future must be gauged and ample provision made for a rapid increase in the volume and weight of highway traffic.

While highway improvement has made tremendous strides in the l'nited States in recent years it is still in its infancy. Eighty-live per cent of American roads are yet to be improved. It is not now so much a question of raising the money required to build good roads as it is the problem of spending wisely the large sums available in every state for this purpose. The number of ruad engineers is entirely too small for the existing demand.

A meeting was called by a number COOL WATER WITHOUT ICE of farmers at Conway. County Agent invited and discussed the value, method of applying, etc., of ground limestone last Friday afternoon. Farmers asked many quesfor lime.

Drainage, ground limestone, phosphnte and "elbow grense" will grow crops on our land.

GROW YOUR OWN FENCE POSTS

There was a time, however, when fence posts, like good lumber, could be had for a song. At that time suggestive article and urges the farmers of this county to plant post timber now:

The writer has tried small white a red oak post happened to be tried results have been even less satisfactory. The first cost is small, but the everlasting renewing is what worries, Locust or cedar would be the preference, but as they are not available chestnut posts will he used and some locust seedlings will be set out. These will last two or three times as long as small white onks the they will give some trouble about failing to hold staples or nails. Still, it will be cheaper to go around the fence in and staples than to reset posts to take the place of those that have rutted off.

A patch of post timber should be an important part of every farm. So little land is needed to grow some focust and such inferior land can b. used for growing them. Then when they have become somewhat decayed, lum has recently set up a machine hausted. Every farm that does no. have its locusts should see that no time is lost in setting out five hundred to several thousand seedlings.

The office acissors have been run around it and the county agent is pasting it below for the readers of the county paper:

if the farmers would think less of bank accounts and more of making their homes attractive, their children would stay on the farm. My father was a furmer. He believed in education, and in travel to complete what his children got in school. I married a farmer and we began life in two rooms. Our greatest ambition was to own a good farm and to give our children the best education within our means. We tried to make our home the most attractive place in the world to them. Each had his own way of making some money, and each had his favorite periodical. They had all the best games, music, flowers, and the privslege of inviting their friends often. Four of our seven children are married, three of them farmers. The two boys are on the farm. Education and the New World

The old world must and will come to an end, but it is to come in the building of a new world and not by a sudden cataclysm. There will be simply a revision or a succession of revisions until the old has become new.

Education is the process of conquering one's environment. The widening of that circle should end only with life. Every day should the world be made new by some new acquisition of truth.
